LONDON, June 6.—Thousands of Allied bombing planes softened up the defences of Western Europe for the Anglo-American invasion last night and early today, dropping more than 11,200 tons of high explosives down on the Nazi coastal fortifications in eight and one-half hours of furious attack.

The roar of the burning bombs and the attacking fighter planes rolled back across the narrow Straits of Dover incessantly from midnight until 8 a.m. as some 7,500 Allied planes hammered at the network of enemy gun emplacements, sapping the channel coast by mid-morning, the Allied air fleets had swept the skies clear of Nazi planes, and fighters were racing as far as 75 miles inland without drawing a challenge from the battered Luftwaffe.

SKY-FILLING PARADE
A sky-filling parade of R.A.F. bomber command, having 1,200 strong, opened the mighty assault at 11:30 p.m., thundering out in continuous waves until dawn. The blackening raiders struck in 10 separate formations of 100 or more planes each, and speared well over 5,000 tons of high explosives across the Nazi coastal forts.

At dawn 1,000 American Flying Fortress and Liberator took up the attack, sweeping out over the heads of the thousands of Allied assault planes moving onto the French coast.

Wave upon wave of American and Allied medium bombers, fighter bombers followed the heaviest attack, bombing and machine gunning the shores and communications behind the battle area.

HAMBURG, June 6.—The Allied 5th Army drove the battered German 14th Army back across the Tiber river on a 17-mile front from Rome to the Tyrrhenian sea, today and sent powerful armored columns five miles beyond the river under orders to destroy the fleeing enemy.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's broken 14th Army was offering only the feeblest sort of rear guard resistance as the Allied tanks and rifle-borne burst across the winding Tiber at a score of points north and west of Rome.

At many points the enemy retreat had turned into a disorganized rout under the raking fire of Allied tanks and armor.

When Invasion Is Opened

An atmosphere of solemnity, of deep appreciation of the momentous events taking place, and the effect they would have on the world for generations to come, settled down over this city when the first announcement was made from General Dwight Eisenhower's headquarters that the Allied Armies had landed in France to liberate the people of the continent of Europe.

Already conversant with the portent and consequences of large-scale offensives, Edmontonians heard the news with tranquil composure, knowing that where their own and their neighbors' troops were engaged that, no matter how difficult the fight, victory would be theirs in the long run.

Losses Light

Allied Leaders Are Optimistic Over Invasion

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 6.—(AP)—German opposition in all quarters was less than expected. It was learned at headquarters tonight, and an optimistic tone was evident. It was disclosed that Allied naval losses had been "very, very small." Warships moved close in to the French shore with the help of the air forces virtually silenced the coastal guns at the landing beaches. German coastal gunfire was described as sporadic. In general, Allied losses have been much less than expected. "Losses of aircraft carrying airborne troops were extremely small although the airborne attack was on a very large scale," it was said. In the face of the powerful Allied attack, the German air force flew only 50 sorties up to about noon, but Allied armor was expected to be a powerful reaction by the German air force was expected soon.

Eisenhower's Order of Day To His Invasion Troops

LONDON, June 6.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower issued the following order of the day to his invasion troops today:

Soldiers, sailors and airmen of the Allied Expeditionary Force:

You are about to embark on a great crusade. The eyes of the world are upon you and the hopes and prayers of all liberty-loving peoples go with you. In company with our brave allies and brothers in arms on other fronts you will bring about the destruction of the German war machine, elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe, and security for ourselves in a free world.

Your task will not be an easy one. Your enemy is well trained, well equipped and battle hardened. He will fight savagely. But in this year of 1944 much has happened since the Nazi triumphs of 1940 and 1941.

The United Nations have suffered no defeat. The Germans great desire in open battle, man to man. Our air offensive has seriously reduced their strength in the air and their capacity to wage war on ground, our home front is strong and our morale is high.

I have full confidence in your courage, devotion to duty and skill in battle. We will accept nothing less than full victory. Good luck and let us all beseech the blessing of Almighty God upon this great and noble undertaking.

British, Canadian and U.S. Troops Expand Beachheads

LONDON, June 6.—Allied invasion armies landed in northwestern France today, drove at least 9½ miles into the vaunted Nazi West Wall to the town of Caen, and after 12 hours of fighting, held beachheads on a broad front along the coast of Normandy.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill told Commons late today that the invasion "is proceeding in a thoroughly satisfactory manner" and simultaneously a supreme headquarters spokesman said the British, Canadian and American armies had "gotten over the first five or six hurdles" in the greatest amphibious assault of all time.

Churchill, making his second appearance of the day in Commons to report on the invasion, said this evening in announcing satisfactory development of the invasion: "The troops have penetrated in some cases several miles inland."

Reports to House Churchill Says Operations "Thoroughly Satisfactory"

LONDON, June 6.—(CP)—Allied invasion forces have penetrated in some cases several miles inland after an effective landing on a broad front, Prime Minister Churchill informed the House of Commons tonight.

The prime minister said in his report that the "landings along the whole front have been effective and the beachheads are being expanded in some cases several miles inland."

Mr. Churchill, after visiting Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters in Lish King, told the house he had been at centers where the latest information was received and could state that "this operation is proceeding in a thoroughly satisfactory manner."

MANY DANGERS PAST
"Many dangers and difficulties which this time last night appeared extremely formidable are behind us," Churchill said. "The passage of the sea has been made with far less loss than we apprehended."

Despite a Nazi propaganda claim of defensive success everywhere, the DNB News Agency reported later that a strong airborne force established itself on both sides of the Cherbourg peninsula to the Seine estuary.

The Vichy radio said tonight: "It must be admitted that the Allied beachhead area has been considerably widened and that Allied reinforcements are pouring in."

Weather Held Back Invasion For 24 Hours

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 6.—(AP)—The Allied landings in France were postponed 24 hours due to bad weather. The weather cleared and the operations were postponed for yesterday morning.

At the time for the original D-day approached there was a clear sky but the weather cleared and the operations were postponed for yesterday morning.

Although the weather still looked bad when the invasion finally was ordered, the predictions were for clearing skies and the expedition moved out.

Calls on Subjects King George Asks Prayer For Victory

LONDON, June 6.—(CP)—The King tonight called upon his subjects to offer up "earnest and continuous and widespread prayer throughout the present crisis of the liberation of Europe."

Prayer, he said, would fortify the "determination of our soldiers and airmen who go forth to set captives free."

At this historic moment surely not one of us is too busy, too young or too old to play their part in the nation's, per chance worldwide, vigil of prayer as the great crusade sets forth, the King said in a BBC broadcast.

FIGHT AGAINST EVIL

Canadian, British U.S. Troops Land in Northern France to Open Invasion

ships had been sighted off the coast above Caen where new landings were expected to take place. The invasion continued in the Vir river estuary area at the mouth of the Cherbourg peninsula, the broadcast reported.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that part of the operations was entirely Canadian in scope in that Canadian troops landed from Canadian ships, covered overboard by Canadian aircraft. The Canadian fought their way ashore, inspired by the rousing message of Lt. Gen. T. D. G. Crerar and after the first waves gained a footing, reinforcing troops poured in, landing craft crisscrossing as a fern.

FRONT WIDENED

Late today the German DNB broadcast agency reported that the invasion front "has been further widened." Nazi broadcasts throughout the day told of the amphibious assault developing on a grand scale, with fighting as deep as 10 miles inland—a figure apparently extended by the last enemy report. Although detailed official reports were lacking as the tense first day drew toward a close, the Canadian was by one source at headquarters in the words: "We have got over the first five or six miles."

SURMOUNTED HURDLES

The mounted hurdles were described as:

1. The German air force did little or no bombing of ports from which the invasion was mounted in the last critical days.

2. Attacks on invasion convoys failed to reach the beach.
3. Minesweepers succeeded in sweeping channels to the beaches from which the invasion was launched. The troops got ashore with little opposition from shore guns than was believed possible.

4. Opposition generally was well below expectations.
5. Up to a certain time this morning, the German air force had flown only 50 battle plane sorties.

CASUALTIES LIGHT

Allied overall casualties appeared to be low. Casualties on the Canadian side were reported as being light. The British reported "small—very small" as well.

The disembarkment went according to plan. Warships succeeded in silencing shore batteries and laying smoke screens on shore.

The minesweeping was described as the biggest and proudest operation of the invasion. Hundreds of sweepers landed the invasion fleet, clearing the later and marking channels.

The German DNB New Agency said, also, that the German landing barges had pushed into the estuary of the Orne river, 10 miles inland in the coastal stretch between Cherbourg and Le Havre. "In the night," the Allied broadcast said, "the German forces have established a defence line that Hitler hoped would keep invaders off the coast of Germany."

Nazi broadcasters also acknowledged that Allied tanks had landed at several kilometers inland between the towns of Caen and Lisieux, and others between Lisieux and Caen.

German reports "heavy fighting in the area of Caen, nine and a half miles inland and 115 miles from Paris on a direct rail-road line."

CASUALTIES LIGHT

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters reported that casualties had been light among airborne troops landing behind the German lines.

Many air-borne missions reported "remarkably little anti-aircraft fire. The Nazi batteries were having trouble keeping up with the intense air assault before the invasion. One large group of transport carriers returned without a single flak hole."

Nazi broadcasters said the Allies had won footholds on the Cotentin peninsula off the coast of France. Earlier they reported landings in the Channel Islands west of the Normandy peninsula.

REPORT SEA BATTLE

The Transoceanic Agency reported that a naval battle was going on in the channel north of Le Havre between German and Allied naval forces trying to make a landing.

DNB, the official Nazi agency, said German coastal forces were being undertaken east of Cherbourg, but "the enemy is still trying to build the bulk of his troops into the area between Cherbourg and Ouistreham."

Even while the Berlin radio was blaring repeated reports of Allied landings, it quoted the military quarters as forecasting "a battle," "especially in the Cotentin peninsula." St. Malo, ancient walled city with ramparts 50 feet high, on the Cotentin peninsula.

About 200 amphibious units appeared on the coast of the Cotentin peninsula, northwest of Caen, around noon, the Nazis said, but there was no report of a landing.

FIRST PHASE EASIER

In the face of reports of initial Allied successes, military officials pointed out that the first phase of an amphibious operation may be expected to be the easiest and the most dangerous coming days or weeks after the first day.

challenge in the first hours of the battle for Europe. Observers believe that the German high command is now in a state of confusion, and that the invasion is a serious threat to the German war effort.

SOLID CLOUD COVER

A solid cloud cover hung over the channel all the way across the Bay of Biscay this morning, it was reported. The German DNB news agency acknowledged that the Allies had put tanks ashore in at least one sector.

Two beachheads had been secured and that "Allied formations are advancing inland." The German DNB news agency acknowledged that the Allies had put tanks ashore in at least one sector.

German news agencies said Allied tanks and armor landed along the north coast of the Normandy peninsula, which jutts out into the English Channel. The invasion was reported to have taken place at the northern tip of Le Havre, 110 miles from the mouth of the Seine, 110 miles from the mouth of the Seine.

MAIN INVASION PORTS

Big concentrations of landing craft were reported off both Cherbourg and Le Havre, "which evidently have been main ports," the Transoceanic agency said. "Very strong concentrations of tanks and armor landed on the islands of Guernsey and Jersey, which are part of the Cotentin peninsula."

SEIZE BRIDGES

There is a flashing report that the invaders are making an effort to capture important railway junctions which are important to the German war effort. "Transoceanic said, 'So far, it is not known whether the invaders have achieved any success in this direction.'

A German high command communique said that the invasion was in progress in the attacked area and claimed that an entire German army was wiped out at Caen.

ANNUAL PUBLICATION

The other would require the annual publication of a detailed statement of bank earnings and expenditures similar to that which he gave the Commons recently. The statement would list all the bank's assets and liabilities, and would give the amounts they have available for "reserve" purposes.

"This procedure," he said, "will, I believe, enable parliament and the public to obtain a true picture of the information which is significant to the public. The banks are making too much profit and whether they have too much or too little in reserve is a matter of public concern."

"Terrific Team" Monty Has Absolute Confidence in Result

AT HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. MONTGOMERY, June 6—(CP)—Gen. Montgomery, commander of all land forces in the Allied invasion, in an invasion eve talk to more than 100 British, American and Dominion's correspondents at Caen, said:

"I personally have absolute complete confidence in the outcome. We are a great Allied team—British, American, Canadian, and Dominion's. The integration of the British Empire and America going out to battle together. I don't think any other two nations could have done it."

"I don't know when the war is going to end, but I don't believe the Germans can go on much longer with this business. The German soldier is a terribly poor. He has been on the defensive a very long time and I believe it must affect his mentality."

GREAT CONTEST HAS BEGUN

LONDON, June 6—(CP)—The German agency DNB broadcast today that the "great contest between the Reich and the Anglo-American forces has begun."

"The Allied landing in the west today has put the German armed forces in the mood which they express with a laconic 'they are coming'."

"At the present moment when the Allied invasion of western Europe still is in its very first beginning, it can be said by all that the battle is a great one. We can only stress the single-mindedness with which the German command is fighting the battle of the Atlantic, and the values are at least as important as the number of soldiers and the quantity of equipment."

UNIT COMMUNICATIONS

WILLIAM J. PARACHUTE TROOPS, June 6—(AP)—American paratroopers—stuffed with dynamite—were sent to the Sicilian and Italian campaigns—landed behind Hitler's army today to plan the first blow of the long-awaited western front.

Legion Urges Fight Soldiers Go Overseas

VANCOUVER, June 6—(CP)—The tenth annual convention of the Dominion Canadian Legion today urged the Canadian government to send overseas men of the Canadian army in Canada.

The request was made in a special invasion message to Prime Minister Mackenzie King by Legion president Alex Walker after delegates approved a resolution that urged the government to send overseas men of the Canadian army in Canada.

"The message read in part: 'As ranks of our Canadian regulars are being thinned by enemy bullets, it is our sacred duty to the men of the Canadian army in Canada to let them fight men down.'

"Therefore, we... who fought the selfless enemy in the First World War, and who today are being thinned by enemy bullets, it is our sacred duty to the men of the Canadian army in Canada to let them fight men down.'

King Foresees Every Reason For Confidence

OTTAWA, June 6.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in a broadcast to Canadians early today that there was "every reason for confidence" in the final outcome of the Allied invasion of Europe, but warned that the fighting would be "heavy, bitter and costly," with some "local reverses."

"Mr. King said Canadians would be proud to learn that Canadian troops were supported by the Royal Canadian Navy and the R.C.A.F. in what he described as the "opening of the decisive phase" of the war. The broadcast was similar to a statement Mr. King had issued earlier to the press.

CANADIANS PROUD
Text of the broadcast follows: At half past three o'clock this morning the government received official word that the invasion of Western Europe had begun. Word was also received that Canadian troops were among the Allied forces who landed this morning on the northern coast of France.

Canada will be proud to learn that our troops are being supported by units of the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The great landing in western Europe is the opening of what we hope and believe will be the decisive phase of the war against Germany. The fighting is certain to be heavy, bitter and costly. We must not expect early results. We should be prepared for local reverses as well as local successes.

No one can say how long this phase of the war may last but we have every reason for confidence in the final outcome.

GEN. CREMER'S WORDS
I cannot better express to the people of Canada the government's feelings at this moment than by giving to you the words of Gen. Cremer, the Canadian Army commander, as conveyed to the Canadian assault forces on the eve of their embarkation:

"I have," said Gen. Cremer, "complete confidence in our ability to meet the tasks which lie ahead. We are excellently trained and equipped. The quality of both the senior and junior leadership is of the highest. As Canadians, we inherit military characteristics which were feared by the enemy in the last Great War. They will be still more feared before this war terminates."

I should like to add this word: Let the hearts of all, in Canada today, be filled with silent prayer for the success of our own and Allied forces, and for the early liberation of the people of Europe.

Fliers Report Invasion Army Well Ashore

AT AN R.C.A.F. STATION, SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 6.—(CP)—The great Allied assault on the northern French coast appeared to be going well by noon today as Canadian fliers, returning from sorties over the beachhead, said Canadian and British troops seemed well ashore with lots of armor visible on the beaches.

As the day wore on fliers encountered bits of cloud over the beachhead area but the enemy, caught three hours after the landings started, still was not offering fighter opposition in the air.

One pilot said: "There were lots of ships. Boats were churning about all over the place. The troops on shore seemed to be making progress and everything seemed all right on the beaches as far as you could tell from the air."

There were bags of fighters around in continuous air cover. Three hours after the Allied invasion started, fighter pilots brought back reports that the situation on the beach seemed well organized.

Barber Forfeits Right of Divorce Because of Delay

CALGARY, June 6.—(CP)—Judgment of Mr. Justice C. McLaughlin, denying Edmund Ralph Shaw, Calgary barber, the right to divorce his wife, Sarah Jane Shaw of Vancouver, because he waited too long to start action, was upheld in a majority judgment of the Alberta appeal court handed down yesterday.

Four of the appeal court judges upheld the original judgment while Mr. Justice H. W. Lunney dissented. Chief Justice Horace Harvey wrote the majority judgment, concurred in by Mr. Justices W. A. Macdonald and W. R. Howson, while Mr. Justice Frank Ford wrote a separate judgment in support of the majority.

Evidence given at the original divorce hearing indicated that the Shaw had separated in 1938 but that divorce proceedings had been instituted only recently after 17 years had passed. The lone dissenter, Mr. Justice MacLaughlin ruled, amounted to acquiescence on the part of Mr. Shaw, who he said, had established no adequate excuse for the delay.

Chalky Wins

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP)—Chalky Wright, Los Angeles, 153, former king of featherweights, knocked out Vince DelGorio, 138, New York, in the third heat of a scheduled 10-bout Monday night.

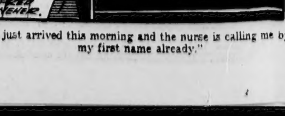

British, Canadian and American forces landed in Northern France—reportedly in the area stretching from Cherbourg to Le Havre—early today to launch history's greatest amphibious invasion and scanty reports said they were making good progress against the Nazis.

Petain Against Help for Allies

LONDON, June 6.—(CP)—The Paris radio today broadcast an appeal by Marshal Petain to Frenchmen to refrain from actions "which would call down upon you tragic reprisals."

"France has become a battlefield," said the aged Vichy chief. "The circumstances of battle may compel the German army to take special measures in the battle area. Accept this necessity."

He called on officials, railway men and workers to remain at their posts—where they would serve the German military machine—in order to keep the life of the nation and in order to carry out your tasks.

"Do not listen to outside voices calling on you not to obey our decrees," he said.

Victor Emmanuel Gives Up Powers

NAPLES, June 6.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel stepped aside as Monarch of Italy yesterday as he previously had said he would do upon the liberation of Rome, and handed to his 39-year-old son, Crown Prince Humbert, all "royal prerogatives."

Italian political pressure had been brought to bear against him since the conquest of Naples.

In a decree signed by himself and countersigned by Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio, head of the Italian liberation government, the King named his son lieutenant general of the realm.

The Monarch, however, retained his title as head of the House of Savoy and remains as King without power.

King Victor Emmanuel, who became ruler July 29, 1900, had announced last April 12 his "irrevocable" decision to withdraw from public life. "On the day on which Allied troops enter Rome," and in turn his powers over to the Crown Prince.

TOWERS OF STRENGTH FOR PEACE...

TODAY Canadians, Americans and Englishmen are working in closer and closer accord. On five different continents... across the seven seas... our joint operations extend.

But the greater our success as comrades-in-arms, the greater our need to become partners in peace. The war has taught us that our complete strength lies in the full measure of co-operation which the British Commonwealth and the United States have achieved together. And, on the continuance of this co-operation, we base our hopes for a just and lasting peace.

We Canadians know the British and the Yanks so well... like them both so much... that we are the "best friend" of each.

Truly, Canada's Peace Tower symbolizes a common meeting-ground for mutual understanding... for an enduring peace.

In our hearts is the same concept of freedom!

It is only natural that Canadians, Americans and Englishmen share the same concept of freedom, for we also share one of the earliest defenders of the freedoms we are fighting for today: He was a Calvert, an enlightened English statesman and founder of colonies off Canada's shore and in Maryland. In statesmanship and wisdom, the Calvert family were far ahead of their age. In 1638 Calvert's son and successor, carrying on the democratic Calvert tradition, fined a man of his own faith five hundred lbs. of tobacco for "vilifying and profaning another's religion." Thus a man's freedom to worship as he pleases was established in the New World by a Calvert.

Liberation Day

Back to the shores of Normandy, from where poured their forebears more than a thousand years ago, gigantic forces of Canadians, British and Americans moved in the early hours of this morning to bring liberty again to the tormented people of Europe.

At this hour it is impossible to determine how or even hazard a guess at the full extent and power of the expedition. There is a vivid picture of the invasion of the English Channel black with ships, more than four thousand of them, of a sky alive with planes, of beachheads well-established on Hitler's European Fortress Europe.

It seems to be admitted, beyond question that certain landings have been effected behind the Atlantic Wall of the Nazis. If this picture is maintained, there is a possibility that this boasted defence line may not prove such an impenetrable barrier as many have believed. There is one point about the invasion which is not so intense as has been expected.

Nevertheless, these casual reports about the invasion do not ignore the fact that the invasion will be an arduous and terrible business.

Certainly the people of the Allied Nations are not lacking in the ignorance of the progress that is being made. The perfection of arrangements to get quick and complete news coverage to the public is obvious. There is no doubt about the excellence of the service.

This is, of course, a day of deepest anxiety to millions of people, of wives and children. They know, as everyone knows, that their loved ones have launched upon the greatest adventure in freedom in the history of the human race.

There is this, however, to be said; that this vast undertaking could not have begun under more favorable auspices, with greater advantages and under more experienced and capable leaders. All the odds are on the side of the men fighting in our forces. There is the fun, fact and truth, and a small one, that our men are fighting in the cause of justice and truth, and that all the forces of good are marching at their side.

Discrimination?

Once again the cry of discrimination rises from French Canada. This time it is the voice of Jean-Francois Pouliot which declares it is "something unbelievable" that the "big crowd" crowded out of the better jobs in Canada.

It is to be presumed that when Mr. Pouliot speaks of bilingual people, he means French-Canadians, and not one of the prevailing idiosyncrasies of nationalists to think of bilingualism, not as the use of two languages, but as the use of French language.

Mr. Pouliot, then, is concerned over the alleged failure of French-speaking Canadians to hold senior positions in the public service in this country. He and his fellow nationalists should be concerned over this matter because it is true that, except in the Government of Quebec, French-speaking persons do fail to qualify for important posts.

But Mr. Pouliot and his friends should not content themselves with the cry of discrimination. For it is not discrimination that disqualifies the young men of Quebec for the best jobs; it is simply the fact that they are not qualified for them. The Government of Quebec is the only one which fits young people, not for life under modern conditions, but for life as it was three or four centuries ago.

Premier Gendreau of Quebec is one French-Canadian who realizes this failure of the Quebec educational system, and he is doing his best to remedy it. He has said that young Quebecers will be trained to make their way in a modern world. These itinerant foolish cries of discrimination merely cloud the issue and the hands.

Beyond the Tiber

Whatever advantages the enemy held by occupying Rome have passed to the Allies. Militarily the situation has been valued chiefly because it is the point where railways and highways converge and thus provided a supply base for the Hitler and Mussolini lines to the south. The lines were lost the city was not considered to be defensible or worth fighting for.

If occupying the capital gave the Nazis any political leverage on the Italian peninsula, the Allies stand to gain even more from having captured it. Now that they are in possession, King Victor Emmanuel, due to the Italian and French authorities to Crown Prince Humbert. That will at least break the tradition that Fascism had the sanction and approval of the Italian people. Mussolini who felt bound to support the party on that account are now free of the obligation.

Rome is now just a way station on the road north. Allied forces poured into and through the city on the heels of the retreating enemy. This may in part account for the relatively small amount of shooting, looting and destruction with which the Nazis seem to have signalled their departure. They were too busy moving to repeat the slaughter and demolition at Naples, if they were minded to do so.

The expectation appears to be that the capture of Rome is but a prelude to the fall of the whole northern half of the peninsula, and that Kesselring will not attempt to make another stand short of his prepared fortifications along the Po river. If the result is as complete as the British expect, the immediate problem is to outfoot the pursuing Fifth and Eighth armies and save the road to so divisions of the British.

That the pursuers will give him no leisure to set up a new delaying position, or to conduct an orderly retreat, is a matter of course. Allied bombers and fighters were pounding his troop convoys, equipment trains, highways and railways far beyond the city while the ground forces were moving in. With the planes overhead and mechanized columns harassing the rear, the Marshal will be lucky if he can keep his remaining divisions ever reach the Po.

The capture of Rome is only an incident. The object of the campaign was to destroy the Italian Fascist regime. It is not impossible that this may be done before the present week is out.

When to Switch

Washington has black-listed 84 Finnish business firms, in an attempt to induce the U.S. to make terms with Russia. The justification for doing so is that while Finland continues to fight for Hitler it is not possible that this may be done before the present week is out.

This is in line with the black-listing of Swedish firms which have been supplying the Nazis with ball-bearings and other war materials.

Immediate results may not be gained by putting Finland on the black list. But these have not been gained by similar action toward Sweden. But neither of these countries can afford to forget that they will want to do business with Russia. Hitler is no more; and neither at Stockholm nor at Helsinki can there be serious doubt that his days of blood, plunder and intimidation are numbered.

Finland is garrisoned by Nazi troops, and Sweden all but surrounded by them. Immediate danger of reprisals may keep both countries from following the wrath of the Fuehrer. But that both will take the opportunity to cease helping him when that can be done with some advantage is probable. Whether they dare make the break in time to earn a lifting of the black-lists against their post-war trade with their governments have to think about.

Legend of the "Eternal City"

By H. L. WEIR

The capture of Rome, bringing that city's name prominently into the news again, has prompted journalists to recall the legend of the "Eternal City" applied to the Italian capital.

It is a poetic phrase and offers a pleasing alternative in a new story, to the more prosaic name of the place.

But to think of Rome as a genuine "eternal city" designed to live forever, is a bit of a stretch, and a little unusual quality of sanctity, or being of importance.

Comparable as it is to the legend of the "Eternal City" applied to the Italian capital, it is a bit of a stretch, and a little unusual quality of sanctity, or being of importance.

Sanctity

The legend that Rome is a city that has never been conquered, and that it has been the seat of many of the world's great empires, is a legend that has been passed on for many years in Rome. But there is no evidence to show that Rome, or indeed, that there were any bishops at all in the middle of the world.

There is even less evidence to show that Rome was ever the seat of the senior apostle by early Christians. Undoubtedly he had a much smaller influence in Rome than Paul in Greece or Asia Minor or Syria. But even the legend of the senior apostle by early Christians is a legend that has been passed on for many years in Rome. But there is no evidence to show that Rome, or indeed, that there were any bishops at all in the middle of the world.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1941, by British United Press
NEW YORK, June 6.—Western clubs, paced by the St. Louis Browns, increased their comparative advantage over eastern major league teams in the season's second phase of interseasonal play, completed Sunday.

During this second phase, from May 24 through June 4, the eight western outposts won 61 games and lost 47, for a percentage of .565. These figures were registered while western National League clubs toured the east, and eastern American circuit crews played in the west.

This was a greater show of western strength than during the first interseasonal phase, from May 10 through May 23, when the westerners won 57 and lost 52, for .518.

YANKS HAVE BAD TIP
THEIR roving showing of the four western American League clubs—St. Louis Browns, Detroit, Chicago White Sox and Cleveland—featured the phase just completed. They won 23 contests and lost 25, with only the Indians playing at less than a .500 clip. The Indians won seven and lost eight. The other three had successful home stands: Browns, 16 and 5; Tigers, 9 and 6; and White Sox, 7 and 4.

The pace setting Browns replaced the New York Yankees in the league lead, as the Yanks suffered a disastrous road tour, winning only five while losing eight, while the other three eastern American Leaguers also played below .500—Boston Red Sox (.74); Philadelphia Athletics (.67); and Washington (.510).

Meanwhile, in the National League, the four westerners successfully marched through the east, with only Chicago's Cubs making a sub-.500 showing. The Cubs took five and dropped seven. The others did better: St. Louis Cardinals (.83); Cincinnati Reds (.74); and Pittsburgh Pirates (.71).

Collective showing was not as strong as during the first phase when the Cards, Reds, Pirates and Cubs repelled eastern invaders with 32 victories against only 22 defeats.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 6.—(AP)—Toronto snapped Jersey City's winning streak at four straight here today by defeating the Little Giants 4-2, in the third of a four-game series.

PHIL'S SHOWING WORST
EASTERN National League clubs showed the Phillies' showing was the worst in the league. Slightly worse than Washington's 3-10, which defeated the Senators from three places to last.

While the eight western clubs were registering their 61 victories against 47 defeats, they achieved 408 runs against the opposition's 406, and 906 hits against 893 eastern safeties.

The touring teams travel toward their own seasons Monday for a period of neighborhood competition which opens in the National League tonight, with Philadelphia at Brooklyn, and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh. The American League resumes Wednesday, with New York at Boston, and Detroit playing a night game at Chicago.

Nova-Scott Bout Declared Draw
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 6.

(AP)—The Oklahoma City Athletic Commission Monday ruled the Buddy Scott-Lou Nova fight here last Friday night, awarded the latter on a technical decision, was a draw.

The commission based a statement in which it said it "is standing behind the judges it appointed and correcting an error of the announcer."

One judge and the referee called the match a draw while the other judge awarded the bout to Nova. Since Nova won the most rounds when the score cards were taken collectively, the announcer awarded the bout to the Californian. Nova beats Scott again in Galveston June 20.

Fastball Tonight At Kingsway Park
A City Girls' Fastball League game and a senior men's fixture are scheduled for tonight at Kingsway park with the opening game set for 8:45 o'clock.

In the girls' contest, Bonnerettes met South Side Athletics while in the second game, the U.S.A.A. enlisted men take on the U.S.A.A. Officers. The Officers are unbeaten to date.

Now Playing Third Base

Versatile Cuban Player Adds Punch to Washington

By HARRY GRAYSON

CHICAGO, June 6.—Where has handsome Gilberto Torres been all his life? That's the question being asked these days and nights by Oswald L. Bluege. When the Washington club pitched camp at College Park, Md., this spring, Ossie Bluege had no more third basemen than a jack rabbit, Harlod Clift having decided to remain on his Yakima, Wash., farm as his robust share in the war effort.

Joe Cambria, Clark Griffith's Latin-America scout, bobbed up with one Luis Sotomayor, but it quickly developed that this Cuban couldn't hit even the 1944 version of American League pitching with a bull fiddle.

Manager Bluege, the last word in third basing for a score of years, was on the verge of climbing back on the horse. He had seen another Cuban, Gil Torres, at camp. He was not a native of Cuba, Gil Torres, but a native of the infield. Torres, a trim blackfaced, 19 years old, was the Chattanooga-Montgomery entry of the American League, but Washington is the one American League club long on pitching, so Bluege was struck by the happy idea of transforming this Clean Havana into a third baseman. And all it took was the Colorado Club's promise to win many more than 19 engagements for the Senators.

PLAYED FIRST
Torres, 28, and good enough looking to be in pictures, dropped into third hole as though he owned the place.

When Joe Kubel was forced to the dugout by battered ribs while his understudy, Eddie Buska, was doctoring a bruised hand, Torres of the strong arm played first base with the easy grace of a right-handed George Harold Sides.

When George Myatt broke a finger, good old Torres filled in at second like a shoe that is well broken in. The first time he did anything superlatively except catch, which is what Gilberto Torres, Sr., did for the Nets of 1903-5.

By way of making himself even more valuable in the days of a player shortage, Torres, a .311, gets around the bases and thinks as well as he fields, and among the leaders in run-batted-in.

CLUB NEEDS CLIFT
Clark Griffith said he'd be the oldest sport in the world.

SPORTS . . . Roundup
BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP)—If a red-haired, pink-faced fellow who played in six world series for the Yankees is a sample of the players for the American League, there's no modest, college baseball coaches' son might think of a letter something like this: "If you fellows are not interested in keeping college baseball alive, you'd better get together and do something about it." But Yale's Red Rolfe coaches himself just a beginner in the coaching ranks.

Rolle is interested in the formation of a Baseball College and, besides, such a group could throw its weight around a bit when football tutors insist that spring and practice is more important than playing ball. It could support Rolle's suggestion for a national tournament to stimulate interest in college ball in the United States; it could, if necessary, struggle against the college professional scouts; it could help its members build stronger schedules and, by no means the least important, it could help them become better coaches.

Roosevelt Warns:

Victory Some Distance Ahead
And "Will Be Tough, Costly"

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt last night hailed the fall of Rome as the first Axis capital to be liberated by the Allies but cautioned that the ultimate victory over Germany "will lie some distance ahead."

Offer Prayers
For Success at Church Parley

Special prayers for the invasion forces were given at the Tuesday morning session of the Edmonton District Peace River Association of Baptist churches held in First Baptist Church. The moderator, Shefford Grimwood, presided.

R. T. Rose, chairman of the stewardship committee, in giving his report, said $7,876.75 was raised for the church's work by the association. This sum exceeded the budget of $7,000 by 11 per cent or a total of $876.75.

The amount raised for orphans missions was $215.55, for Indian famine relief, $1,110.20, making a total of $20,102.50 for 1941.

Mr. Rose presented the budget for 1941, which amounted to $7,200. This was accepted by the conference.

In the Rev. J. A. Buskam's report on evangelism he reported 53 baptisms and seven churches having special speakers.

Mrs. H. S. Olding reported on the Baptist church camp at West End Baptist. A total of 2,083 subscriptions were filled in 1940; 1,890 were paid; 17 were exchanged; and 53 were sent to chaplains.

REPORTS ON CAMP

The Rev. Fred Astor told of the Baptist church camp at Gull Lake. The boys' camp will be held July 15 to 25. The girls' camp will be held from July 22 to 31. Speakers will be the Rev. P. Buck of Bozalis, S.A., the Rev. J. Daniel, and the Rev. H. Mollman of Park Baptist church, Bradford.

The girls' camp will be held July 30 to Aug. 8.

Miss Naomi Falkenberg gave the girls' report telling of the 14 groups of girls in the city with a membership of 124. Mr. Grimwood made brief report of the work among the young people in the church and reported that more groups of young Baptist people will be formed this year and that membership will grow.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Other reports to be heard included those dealing with the church's work among the young people; social service; boys' work; ladies' aid; and the work of the church's youth group. The Rev. D. T. Triles led a devotional service. The Rev. D. T. Triles led a devotional service. The Rev. D. T. Triles led a devotional service.

Canada told of the church publications, including the Morning Star and the Western Baptist. Mr. Grimwood presided.

Before the Magistrate

At an unseasonable speed, David C. Sands, Edmonton, was fined $10 or 21 days by the court. The case was heard by Magistrate J. Miller, N.C. Tuesday morning. A patrol officer of the court had arrested Sands after he had been charged with the accused as he went through a school zone at an estimated speed of 40 m.p.h.

Shirley Kaplin, Edmonton, pleading guilty to assaulting another man and causing him actual bodily injury, was fined $10 or 21 days, three months with hard labor. A police officer told of the assault on May 31, when he found a badly injured man who was complaining that the accused had assaulted him. Defence counsel contended that the complainant in the case had repeatedly come to his client's premises and "spoiled dates for him" by making a prospective customer another offer.

Joseph LaRone, a traffic officer informed the magistrate that he had tried to break a train to the railway crossing at 86 street. The train was on the track and the accused was operating, overturning it. LaRone was fined $10 or 21 days, three months with hard labor, for anything about it, was fined $10 or 21 days.

Weather Is Cloudy
As Invasion Starts

DOVER, June 6.—(CP)—The Dover break in the heavy clouds at this time of the Allied invasion of Western Europe. After a daybreak shower there was sun and clouds later in the day. The clouds swept up from the north-west. There were further sunny showers throughout the afternoon. The sea settled. The wind had blown fairly hard during the night but lost some of its strength after dawn. A moderate sea was running.

Disclose Invasion
Feints Carried Out

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, London, June 6.—(AP)—It has been revealed that the Allies have been conducting a series of feints to advance the invasion of Europe. These feints were designed to lead the Germans to believe that the main attack would be made in the Channel Islands, and were carried out by the Allies.

What's the use workin' for sergeant's stripes in this outfit—you never get a chance to show 'em off."

"That distance will be covered in due time—have no fear of it," the president said in radio broadcast. "But it will be tough and it will be costly."

The President welcomed the fall of the eternal city at the opening of his address with these words: "One step and two to go."

He continued, however, that Germany has not yet been driven to surrender and observed:

"Germany has not yet been driven to the point where she will be unable to recommence world conquest a generation hence."

AKES CHANCE FOR ITALY

The President extended to Italy the invitation to help in establishing a lasting peace and said, "All the other nations opposed to Fascism and Nazism should help give Italy a chance."

"The Germans, after years of domination in Rome, left the people of Italy in a state of starvation. We and the British will do everything we can to bring them relief. We have already begun to save the lives of the Italian women and children of Rome."

The Italian people "are capable of self-government," he continued. "We do not lose sight of their virtues as a peace loving nation."

Speaking of the military operations still in progress in Europe, the President said:

"We shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany. The people wanted a peace, and we shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany."

"They have suffered heavy losses, but not great enough yet to cause collapse. We shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany."

In Italy, the President said, the people had lived so long under the corrupt rule of Mussolini that the people had lost touch with the spirit of the final act of the drama. "We shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany."

"We shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany. The people wanted a peace, and we shall have to push through a long period of greater effort and fiercer fighting before we get into Germany."

Spit-second timing is the secret for an operation like this to be successful as the case today when thousands of Allied troops landed in France. Undergoing intensive training for their task in the invasion of Europe, hundreds of Canadian paratroopers took part in a mass jump while the troop-carrying aircraft which bore them aloft passed overhead. These soldiers took their initial training with parachutes in Canada, added polish and finesse in Britain.

Gave Nazis a Surprise Today

Ilisley Hopes for Change
Contributory Pensions Plan
Under Federal Jurisdiction
Awaits Action by Provinces

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, June 6.—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilisley said yesterday in the Commons a contributory old age pension plan may not be instituted in Canada until the provinces agree to transfer their jurisdiction in the pension field to the Dominion government.

Mr. Ilisley said the present system of old age pensions was unsatisfactory because of the division of responsibility among the Dominion and the provinces, but he hoped it would soon be possible to have the system under one jurisdiction.

"I have never disagreed the fact that I consider the present system unsatisfactory," Mr. Ilisley said during a debate on a $100,000 item in his war appropriations estimates providing a supplement for pensions to the aged and the blind.

He said he felt a contributory pensions scheme entirely under Dominion administration would provide the solution to present problems.

However, the British North America Act would have to be amended to transfer jurisdiction over the pensions to the Dominion. It was not known whether the provinces would agree to the transfer of jurisdiction.

In addition, Canada would have to have the people of Canada would accept contributory pensions scheme.

Mr. Ilisley said that the federal government did obtain permission to take over the administration of pensions if it was to be done before the present system could be abolished.

Present pensioners and persons who will not be covered by the contributory scheme and would have to be paid out of the existing contributory plan.

If the transfer of jurisdiction was made by order in law, the pensioners would be placed under the department of social welfare which the government proposed to create. The pensions were handled by the finance department, which caused the federal government was not a contributory to a scheme administered by the provinces.

TO BE DISCUSSED
The jurisdiction transfer would be made by order in law, the pensioners would be placed under the department of social welfare which the government proposed to create. The pensions were handled by the finance department, which caused the federal government was not a contributory to a scheme administered by the provinces.

Mr. Ilisley said he believed about four of the provinces have indicated that they would favor a reduction in the eligible age for the contributory scheme. The transfer would be made by order in law, the pensioners would be placed under the department of social welfare which the government proposed to create. The pensions were handled by the finance department, which caused the federal government was not a contributory to a scheme administered by the provinces.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday in a speech to the House of Commons that the federal government was not a contributory to a scheme administered by the provinces.

any government would discontinue the invasion of France.

The War Measures Act would remain in force for some time yet. It was hoped that the new legislation would be enforced while the War Measures Act was still in force.

The House completed study of the finance department's war estimates at the evening sitting and resumed examination of some of the estimates of the reconstruction department which were not disposed of last week.

Lions' Clubs

In Forefront With Cottages

Edmonton is in the forefront in providing homes for elderly people, as the Lions' Club told members of the Alberta Pensioners' Society at a meeting held in the L.O.O.F. hall Monday evening. At Victoria, B.C., the Lions' Club is in the forefront in the construction of "Sunset Cottages" in Edmonton is under way and also in Calgary, all by Lions clubs.

Mrs. Williams said the fact that the Edmonton city council is behind the project is about not to be forgotten.

The "Sunset Cottages" project was undertaken by civic authorities about seven years ago, at which time the city agreed to furnish the dwellings in the cottage, and to lay out the grounds in the area. With the two cottages planned for this year, the total accommodation will be up to 15 self-contained homes, housing 32 people.

COMPLETE PRIVACY

Each cottage, continued the speaker, houses two couples, each of whom enjoy the privacy of their homes. This is only a "drop in the bucket" to what is needed in the city. Mrs. Williams, who said she hoped to see the property near Borden Park all filled up and another site chosen for more buildings.

Every service club interested in this activity—caring for the aged, boys' work, and the like—will be the Lions' club has undertaken to assist the aged who live in the city.

Contributing to the program were three Polish entertainers—Jeanette Flota, soloist, who sang songs in English and Polish; Mrs. J. Kinski, pianist, who accompanied; Frank Aukamp, accompanist; and Mrs. J. Kinski, pianist, who accompanied.

A community sing-along was led by Mrs. F. M. Wood, Mrs. J. E. Robertson, accompanied at the piano, Edward C. Fisher was chairman.

Summer Cottage Rents Governed By Regulations

Rentals charged for summer cottages are governed by wartime leasehold regulations, it was stated by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board here.

Rental charges for them during 1941 and 1942 being set at $1.00 per week, it was stated. No increase can be made unless authority for such increases has been received from the local rental committee or the rental board.

Landlords cannot set their own terms for weekly occupancy if they have already rented on a monthly basis, it was stated. These regulations will not, however, apply to housing or lands used exclusively for farm purposes.

Now Face Two Ways of Life

The choice between two ways of life, each opposite to the other, now faces the widows of Canadian soldiers who died in the war. Mrs. A. H. Hooke, provincial secretary, declared in an address Monday night at the Second Credit Mall, 974 Jasper avenue.

"The choice is between one way of living in the centralization of power in the hands of a few and the throwing of democracy, and the other way of living in monetary reform as the way in which it is possible to have economic security without giving up any personal freedom," Mr. Hooke said.

NOW BEFORE PEOPLE

These two choices are before us now. One way may be called socialism and the other true democracy. One way may be called the way of the few and the other the way of the many.

The speaker's topic was, "Where Do We Go From Here?" In the series being given under auspices of Edmonton Social Credit Conference Association, David Duncan, association president, was chairman of the evening.

Referring to the socialist program, Mr. Hooke said socialists are trying to get men out of work. "Champions of the working man is right," he will continue, "and he gets work."

The Social Credit way of life says that instead of work, what we want is more leisure, the speaker went on. "The Social Credit way of life says that instead of work, what we want is more leisure, the speaker went on. "The Social Credit way of life says that instead of work, what we want is more leisure, the speaker went on."

Earlier in his address, Mr. Hooke went back to the period of the First World War. "The League of Nations had been formed, people were told at the time that it was the end of the war, but there was something else being done. It was the first attempt to set an international government under the control of international finance."

League FAILURE
"The League of Nations failed. It didn't get as far as we believed it would. There have been 5,500 families who have not received their bonus for grass and rye acreage. They have been paid as quickly as the claims can be computed," he said.

The one per cent levy for the bonus was paid to the farmers who received awards for prairie farm acreage, amounting to $23,278 in 1934.

Directors of A.F.U. Arrange Meeting Here

Now Face Two Ways of Life

The choice between two ways of life, each opposite to the other, now faces the widows of Canadian soldiers who died in the war. Mrs. A. H. Hooke, provincial secretary, declared in an address Monday night at the Second Credit Mall, 974 Jasper avenue.

"The choice is between one way of living in the centralization of power in the hands of a few and the throwing of democracy, and the other way of living in monetary reform as the way in which it is possible to have economic security without giving up any personal freedom," Mr. Hooke said.

NOW BEFORE PEOPLE

These two choices are before us now. One way may be called socialism and the other true democracy. One way may be called the way of the few and the other the way of the many.

The speaker's topic was, "Where Do We Go From Here?" In the series being given under auspices of Edmonton Social Credit Conference Association, David Duncan, association president, was chairman of the evening.

Referring to the socialist program, Mr. Hooke said socialists are trying to get men out of work. "Champions of the working man is right," he will continue, "and he gets work."

The Social Credit way of life says that instead of work, what we want is more leisure, the speaker went on. "The Social Credit way of life says that instead of work, what we want is more leisure, the speaker went on."

Earlier in his address, Mr. Hooke went back to the period of the First World War. "The League of Nations had been formed, people were told at the time that it was the end of the war, but there was something else being done. It was the first attempt to set an international government under the control of international finance."

League FAILURE
"The League of Nations failed. It didn't get as far as we believed it would. There have been 5,500 families who have not received their bonus for grass and rye acreage. They have been paid as quickly as the claims can be computed," he said.

The one per cent levy for the bonus was paid to the farmers who received awards for prairie farm acreage, amounting to $23,278 in 1934.

This is a solemn and momentous day in human history. The thoughts of all are with our fighting sons and those, even now, are storming the heights of the Argonne, and are facing the mad fury of the Hun, who knows that his hour of judgment is come.

The future of Christian civilization hangs in the balance. It behooves us all to unite this day in prayer and supplication committing our cause into the hands of God and seek His Divine strength and protection for those who must bear the heat of the battle, and His comfort for the loved ones of the combatants.

who will be called upon to pay the supreme price for the liberation of mankind.

I, therefore, appeal to each and every one of the citizens of this province to join reverently and fervently in private prayer and supplication, and in the special services which will be held throughout the province today and during the coming week.

Telephone Man Suffers Burns On Power Pole

Removed from a power pole between 102 and 103 streets, south of Jasper avenue, about 5 p.m. Monday, Robert S. Evans, 4853 93 street, an employee of the City Telephone Department, was rushed to Mitericordia hospital by Jack Hays ambulance. At that institution he was found to have suffered two burns to the calf of the left leg.

How long the man had been on the pole was not known, and the first indication that something was wrong came when he was observed lying across the arms of the pole by a passerby, A. L. Nuckles, 904 104A avenue.

About the same time, two others, Harvey Whetstone, of 8617 109 street, and Thomas Hollingsworth, of 9231 96 street, observed Mr. Evans' predicament, and while Mr. Evans was being summoned, they made an attempt to rescue him. Mr. Hollingsworth complained of receiving a shock in the attempt to free him.

NOT UNCONSCIOUS

With the arrival, almost simultaneously, of firemen and members of the Electric Light Department, Mr. Evans was removed from the pole, and immediately taken to hospital. He was conscious when he reached the ground.

Two poles at that point are carriers of three transformers, with 2,300 volts passing through each of three wires leading from them. While Mr. Evans was not interviewed, it was believed that he had, in some manner, touched one of the wires.

It was understood that he had been testing wires at the time of the accident. His condition, said hospital authorities, was not considered serious.

Govt. Declined To Remove Ban On Wine, Liquor

OTTAWA, June 4 (CP)—The federal government declined to remove its wartime restrictions on the release of wine and liquor for sale when requested to do so by Premier George Drew of Ontario, it was disclosed yesterday in the Commons.

Resources Minister Cresser tabled an exchange of correspondence between the Ontario premier and Prime Minister Mackenzie King which took place just before the Ontario government cut the monthly liquor ration from 26 to 13 ounces.

NO DISCRIMINATION

The correspondence was made public after Revenue Minister Gibson told the House there was no discrimination in the treatment of Ontario and Quebec in the matter of liquor supplies.

He also said the restrictions were not imposed because of a shortage in supply but "to assure a total war effort." The reasons advanced when the restrictions were imposed were still valid and "as the hour of our greatest trial approaches they possess added significance."

Col. Gibson said Ontario received 1,140,819 proof gallons of spirits in the year ended Oct. 31, 1945, and Quebec, 1,162,667, Ontario in

Board Is Named To Settle Dispute

Announcement was made Tuesday of the appointment of H. H. Parlee, K.C., as chairman of the conciliation board to inquire into the dispute that has arisen concerning bargaining rights of two unions for employees of Canada Packers Ltd., Edmonton plant.

Mr. Parlee's appointment was the same person received 36,983-411 gallons of beer and Quebec, 37,947,371.

An obvious reason for the discrepancy in ration between the two provinces was the number of persons made Monday, while the other two members of the board were appointed some time ago. They are: L. Y. Cairns, K.C., representing Canada Packers Ltd., and Rev. C. J. Foran, representing the United Packing House Workers of America. Appointment of the board followed two votes taken at the plant in which the United Packing House Workers failed to get a clear majority of the workers concerned. Bargaining rights are now held by an affiliate of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, while the United Packing House Workers is an affiliate of the C.I.O.

Baptist Church Meeting Told Of Good-Will

"The Compelling Character of Good Will" was the subject of an address given by Dr. George E. Levy, Wolfville, N.S., actor of The Maritime Baptist, the only Baptist weekly newspaper in Canada, at the opening session of the Edmonton district-Peace River Association of the Baptist Church annual conference being held Monday and Tuesday in the First Baptist Church.

"In a world torn with hatred, prejudice and ill will, the high and noble quality of good will can exercise a most compelling power. Good will alone shall help us to rise above racial prejudice, the tension between groups, and the bitter animosities between nations," Dr. Levy stated.

LACKS REALISM

"In the past so much of our talking about good will has been marked by a lack of realism. The good will which we talked and tried to suggest was a weak and sentimental. It failed to have an element of realism. We were living in a world where the forces of destruction were slowly gathering strength, and it was not wise to that place where they have been able to very nearly blot out all the good of the world."

"A bold and realistic sort of good will must never fail to take into account such destructive forces as war, hatred, and the hand of friendship to others it must at the same time deal realistically with whatever threatens the peace and security of our everywhere," Dr. Levy declared.

"The real foundation of good will is to be found in the religious faith here is a wealth of idealism and sentiment which helps to create in the attitudes and thinking of men and women everywhere those very qualities which constitute 'good will,' the speaker concluded.

200 REGISTERED

Registration of more than 200 took place Monday afternoon. A devotional period was led by the Women's Association. A pastor's and laymen's conference took place during the afternoon.

Miss Clara Johnson, missionary on furlough from Bilimpati, India, and wearing a beautiful sari of Kelly green silk embroidered in gold thread, told of the work of the missionaries in India.

"We hear the politicians say in India today that 'all things western should depart from India, including Christ,'" the speaker stated. The people of India connect Christ with the western world, it is not the first time in history that a country has wanted Christ vanquished, the speaker said. Christ is a stumbling block in the Indian politician's ambitions, Miss Johnson said.

"After the war there will be many political changes, Miss Johnson stated and urged the people to be ready for these changes. In this sub-continent, India, there are all kinds of people from the highly civilized to the most primitive.

POLITICAL CHANGES

Political changes will come through the Indian students, who have left the faith of their fathers, Hinduism. While they have left their old faith, which they have not found suitable after their studies, they have not embraced Christianity but are non-religious, Miss Johnson stated.

"The true picture of India is found in the Indian villages, where seven-eighths of the people of the country live and there the missionaries found the people are thinking of Christ. They think of Christ with the Hindu, deep-rooted idea of reincarnation. 'Christ is all right but he is only one of the many incarnations.' The people must be shown that Christ is the One centre of the whole world," Miss Johnson declared.

"The price of becoming a Christian in India is at a tremendous cost but there are those who Christians and it is the hope of all missionaries to bring all into the fold of Christianity, Miss Johnson said.

MISSIONARIES NEEDED

Missionaries are needed in India and trained Indian workers are needed, Miss Johnson concluded. The evening session included a song service and devotional period. Miss Johnson spoke again of India; the Rev. L. Keith Daniel sang; the massed Baptist senior choirs sang an anthem and Dr. Levy gave an historical survey of Baptist work from east to west.

In the Maritimes the work of the Baptist is 180 years old, Dr. Levy said, when French Canada became British and about the time of the American revolution. The work started in Ontario and Quebec at the turn of the century, and 11 years ago this past month, Pioneer MacDonald arrived in Winnipeg and laid the beginnings of Baptist work in the West.

"At the present time we just about have plans to have the Federation in Canada completed, Dr. Levy said. This will not do away with the other conventions but will be a gathering every three years of all the churches.

"This is not a new idea, Dr. Levy stated, but one which was expressed by Abraham, Man, you know. There has never been an all-Canada convention before but we will have it in the near future," the speaker said.

S. Grimwood, moderator, presided at the meetings. The Rev. Fred Andros, B.Sc., B.Th., is vice-moderator and the secretary is the Rev. R. C. Standerwick, B.A. Sessions will be held all day Tuesday.

Protect Your Marriage and Your Children Against SYPHILIS AND GONORRHOEA

Today shells, bombs, and hunger are killing European children by the thousands. But right here in Canada another KILLER stalks the land... working silently and ruthlessly... laying thousands of children and adults and crippling thousands more for life.

That killer is Venereal Disease. You can't always detect it. Even the innocent cannot always escape its clutches. That is why their is only one sure way to protect yourself and your loved ones against its ravages:

If you are planning marriage: Ask your doctor to give you a health examination... including a blood test for Syphilis.

If you are an expectant mother: Safeguard the future of your child by asking your doctor for a prenatal examination, including a blood test.

See Your Physician or Health Officer

Free medical services are available in Alberta at the Provincial Clinics in Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, High Prairie, Peace River and McLennan. If you do not live in a clinic centre and wish to be treated at home by your local physician the Provincial Department of Health will supply all of the drugs free. Complete information is contained in booklets which may be obtained from the Department of Health of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This message is a contribution to Canada's all-out war program by Edmonton individuals and organizations who ask no thanks, no publicity... just the privilege to serve.

PROTECT YOUR HOME

It is estimated 300,000 Canadians have syphilis and that of these two-thirds do not know it.

Venereal disease spells suffering, invalidism, early death, broken homes, dependence on public assistance. Don't let it happen to you or your loved ones!

Know for Sure! Get a blood test now! Protect Your Home and Loved Ones Against Venereal Disease!

CASE HISTORY

Out of the grab-bag of tragedy caused by syphilis, comes this story: A man, believing he was completely disinfecting from venereal disease, applied for relief to the venereal department of a small Canadian city. A medical examination showed that the "infection" was syphilis. In a subsequent investigation for those whom he might endangering health, it was discovered that his wife and all their seven children had syphilis. The eldest child was barely dead and blind, the second and third children were deaf-mutes. The fourth had a "long bone" syphilitic infection and was crippled; the fifth was an idiot; the sixth was mentally defective; the seventh, 18 months of age, was also infected.
